

Advantage Basketball Camps Registration Form

Welcome to the Advantage Basketball Camps. All our camps follow the same philosophy of learning through repetition and hard work. Our Summer camps focus on ball-handling drills with a secondary focus on moves off the dribble. Our other camps (Mid-Winter Break, Spring Break, Winter Break, etc.) focus on moves off the dribble with a secondary focus on ball-handling drills. These other camps are a great way to build on the camper's time invested at Summer camp. Campers who are returning to a Summer camp will work on more advanced moves while first-time campers focus more on fundamentals. Summer camps feature games for all, regardless of experience level. In other words, kids have fun each day and play a lot of basketball like 3-on-3 and 5-on-5 competitions.

Most basketball camps will be broken into four main categories. The campers will divide their time at camp into these categories.

1. Ball handling. We will spend the first hour to warm up each day with fundamental ball-handling drills. While we understand that these drills are hard work, they do produce incredible results and are mandatory to becoming a great ball handler. As always, there is no substitute for repetition through hard work.
2. Moves off the dribble. This will be the main focus of the Summer camps. We use a variety of methods to teach these moves. As always, we focus on fundamentals from there. Where the lessons progress depends on the camper's current skill level. When you come in the gym, you will see several different stations with groups of kids working at each station. Each station will teach moves and techniques to accommodate and challenge the kids based on their individual skill level and abilities.
3. Education. This is fun for us because we get to show off a little. We spend time each day talking about the game of basketball. We cover court awareness and angles and how to attack those angles. We discuss what moves to use, and where to use them, and how to use them in relation to where your defender is. We'll demonstrate how to check your defender and learn their tendencies in order to read the defense. We enjoy this and in most cases, our younger campers have never heard this information before. We then will demonstrate with the counselors. (This is always a favorite for the campers.) Our staff members have all achieved their highest level of the game and are very fun to watch play. We break the game down for the campers while they are playing in a half-court set. We talk about how the ball defender is protecting the ball and court angles, while the other defenders will be protecting passing lanes in a flat line triangle to the ball and their player. We talk about help-side defense, ball-side defense, standard rotations, and advanced rotations. While understanding all this makes you a good defender, it is this knowledge that can make you a great offensive player. It has been our experience that from the high school level down that a very small percentage of the players have been taught or understand all this. Having this kind of working knowledge will put you child miles ahead of the average player.
4. Shooting. In Shooting camps and during one day of our multi-day Summer camps, we will focus on the art of throwing a basketball. We briefly cover the fundamentals of proper shooting form, devoting more time to this in our Shooting camps. At Winter camps, we focus on more advanced aspects of shooting, such as footwork, quick-release shooting, and the jump shot. For our more advanced players, "floaters" and "up and under" are a couple of techniques we'll work on. New campers will get an introduction to our "swat team". If you do not properly shoot over, or up and under, or use bad foot work, or take too long to get your shot off, our guards will swat the ball into the cheap seats. Our guards will focus on coming into their shoot from all directions and going up with the shoot in balance and with a quick release. Post players will work on post moves. When the camper feels they are ready, we will call in the swat team.
5. Games/Fun. At full-day or multi-day camps, afternoons are planned to allow the kids to have some fun while they work on their game and moves. We will have them work at 1-on-1, 3-on-3, and 5-on-5 stations. The staff will be right there with them to help them learn what to do, when to do it, and why they should do it. The kids love this and it's a great time to work on their moves and apply some of their newly-gained knowledge.

If you're ready to take your game to the next level, then Advantage Basketball Camps is for you. Come work with one of the top staffs in the country and meet some of the most motivated players from around the world.
